The BEMER Horse-Set opens a new chapter in horse husbandry. It supports healing processes, promotes regeneration and can be used preventively. It also optimizes suppleness and thus lets your horse exercise more efficiently. As a result, your horse will not only relax more easily but also recover from exertion faster.

A close-up photograph of a horse's head, focusing on its eye and the halter. The horse has a dark brown coat and a large, expressive brown eye. The halter is made of dark material with a silver-colored metal ring. The background is blurred, showing a person's hand in a light-colored sleeve. The overall mood is intimate and focused.

Thank you for focusing on me.

And for helping me focus.

Possible effects of impaired microcirculation

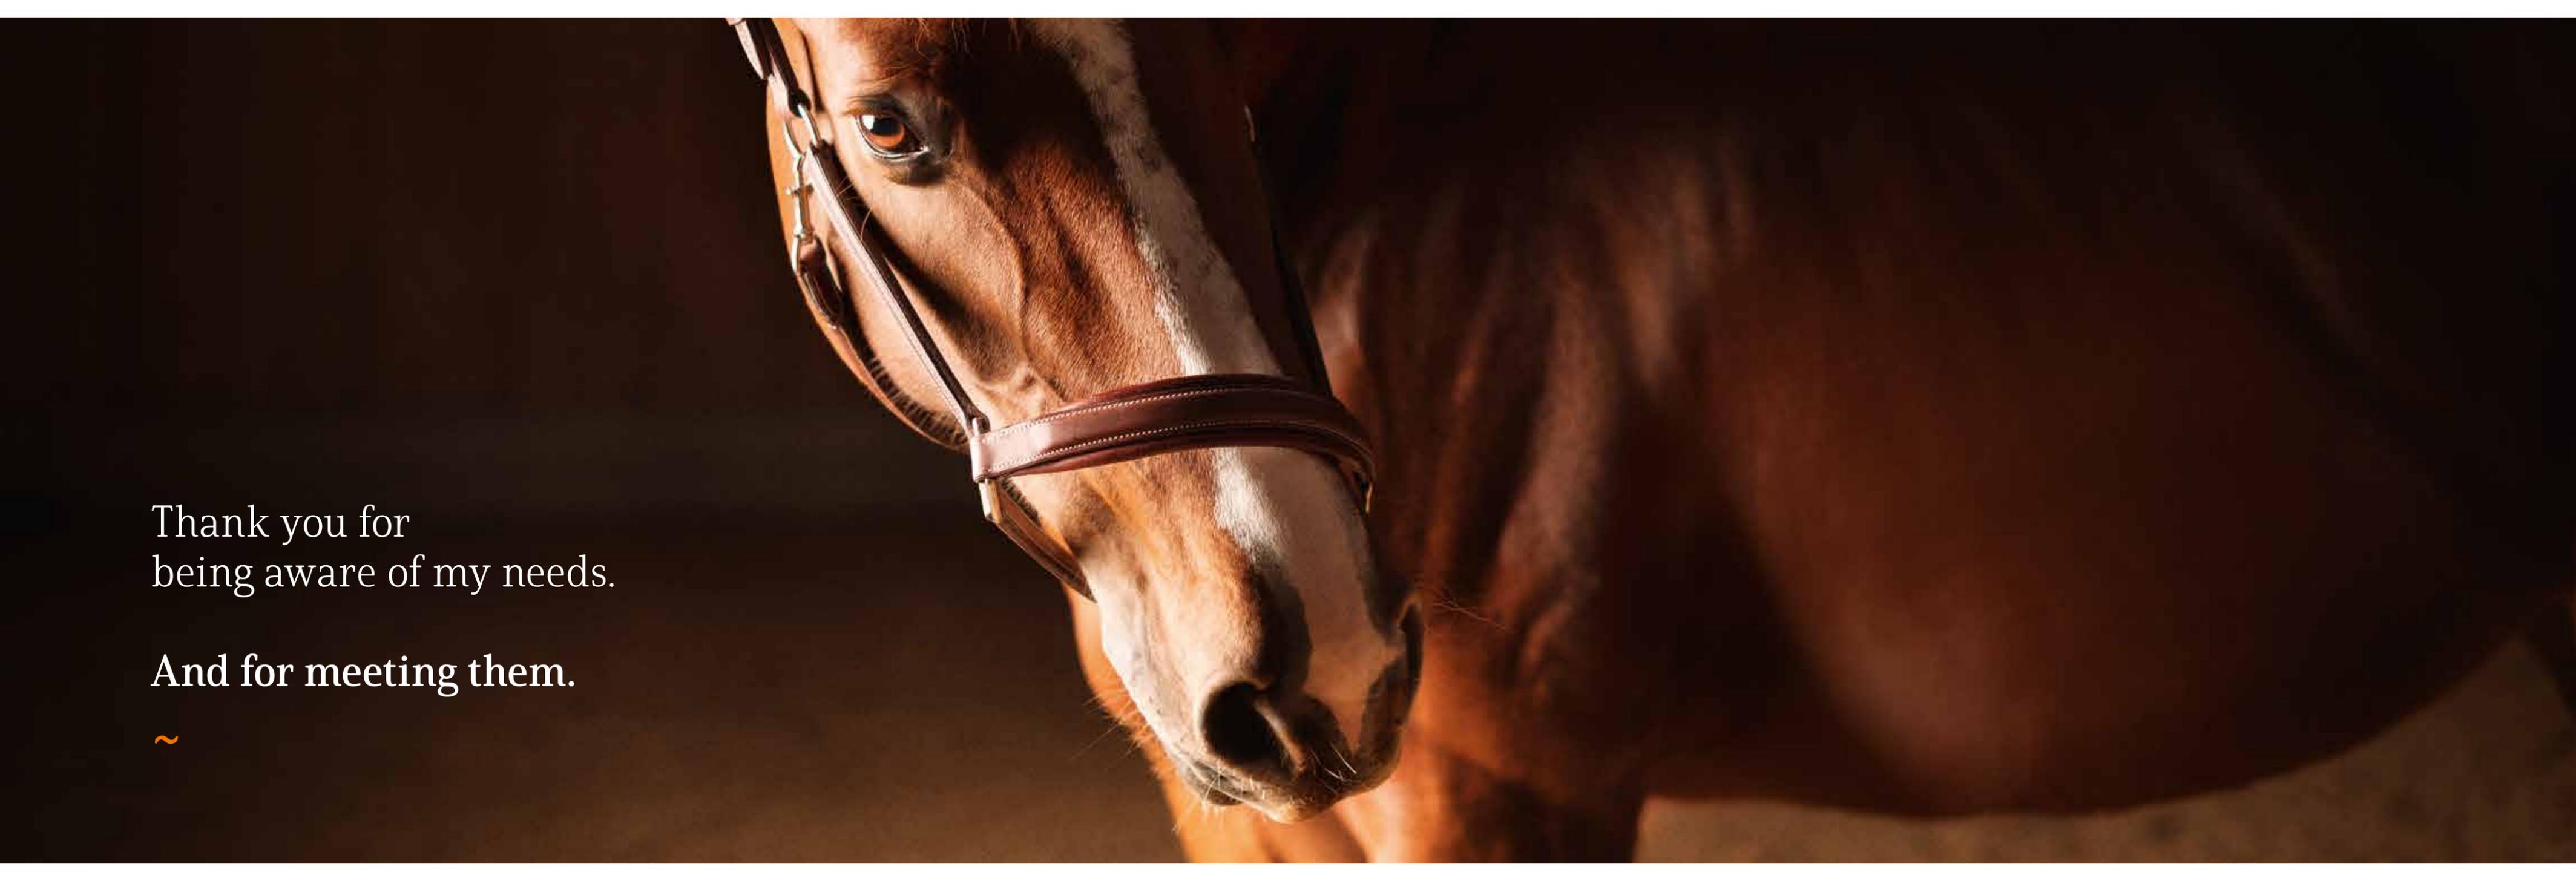

- ~ Reduced performance
- ~ Inadequate recovery when resting
- ~ Increased susceptibility to and reduced defence against infection
- ~ Increased risk of impaired wound healing ability

Microscopically huge.

Microcirculation occurs in the area of the smallest blood vessels and cannot be seen with the naked eye. Nevertheless, it has a huge impact on the health and performance of your horse. Why? Because this is where your horse's metabolic processes take place. Cells are supplied with nutrients in order to optimally fulfil their natural tasks, and the metabolic waste products are disposed of. A healthy microcirculation is therefore essential for your horse's all-round well-being.

Thank you for being aware of my needs.

And for meeting them.

What would your horse say?

Well, we couldn't ask your horse directly, of course. However, we were able to talk to some experts – in fact, the very best in our field: Paul and Bettina Schockemöhle, the Horse Competence Center Germany, Hof Kassermann, World Champion Simone Blum, Dr. Hermann Genn and many more. Professionals who understand horses, their needs and physiology better than most. And they gave us more than we could ever have wished for. Honest opinions. Sheer, inexhaustible expertise. And constructive optimization suggestions for the best BEMER Horse-Set ever. What would your horse say?

“What are you waiting for?!”

By using the BEMER Horse-Set, horses display quieter behavior and have a greater tolerance of stress, especially in new surroundings, and show significant improvement in getting up safely after surgery.
